Welcome everyone to the re-birth of Delcar's Dungeon. My counterpart and I are working diligently at streamlining the site and tightening its focus. The Dungeon has been online since 1998, and undergone many evolutions, this is the most exciting one yet.

Expect to see (and hear!):

Custom Miniatures - ranging from conversions to custom sculpts (primarily 28mm scale) for sale and display.

Wargaming terrain and The dreaded 'holiday villages' with some panache (thinly disguised wargaming terrain you can buy for mom... and borrow. ;).

Custom sculpture - a variety of subjects, 1/12th scale seems to be my 'high end' but I have been dabbling with various scales. I will do custom commissions.

The sketchbook - my drawings are still truly sketches; mostly a tool to help bring the sculptures and buildings to life.

Voice Talent - Having dabbled with voice work in my prior careers, its something that I've always loved.

Audio books will be available from the website, in mp3 format initially, but we will be able to look at other formats. Direct download OR a CD option will be available.

Hire me for your voice work. Need a new voicemail message? A character for your cartoon? Narration? Give me a spin. Samples uploaded soon.

Other things to look forward to:

Our RPG sessions and blogs. The World of Greyhawk campaign I've been running (with breaks, obviously) now spans over 20 years REAL time, and has transition from AD&D (Greyhawk folio) to 2nd edition AD&D, to (gawd help me) RIFTS and then to GURPS IIIe and is currently GURPS IVe.

GM notes/prep/tips

The inevitable funniest moments. [Characters say the funniest things... before you maul/kill/embarass them...

Character bios/stats and art, including their miniature.

Maps and GM handouts.

The blogs.

'Delcar' - you're host and slightly deranged guide on this merry tour, expect anything in the blog from game reviews to discussions of philosophy to corny jokes. Consider yourself warned.'Sarafina' - tends to report on conventions/famous people 'sightings' and often gives the woman's view on gaming. She's also a WoW adict. :P

'Mark Caliber' - our somewhat better educated member, with a theatre (notice the re spelling, very chic) background and an opinion on almost everything. If you know him from the SJ Games Forums or (heaven forbid) the Kenzer & Company [Hackmaster] boards, just turn around and run now.

'Ninjaboy'- Reviews and commentary of 'what's actually cool' he knows, because he's thirteen - they know EVERYTHING. Anime, other cartoon, film reviews and video game comentary - (I can't say review, because the most I get out of him is 'It sucks' 'It's ok'. So we'll see.

'The Lady' - The solid core of our little group's concience, another frighteningly creative troubleshooter and professional mom. (Seriously - Mark C. and I are afraid she's gonna ground US sometimes... and when she and Sarafina work in collusion....)

Expect to see site updates throughout the Holiday season, with a soft target of a January 1st launch.

Regards,

"Delcar" Shannon A. Ward
